The Stairlift People

Stannah – a name you can trust

Stannah is a family-owned business with over 140 years of experience in the lifting industry. We are proud to make some of the world's best-selling stairlifts, with over 500,000 sold globally. We welcome the opportunity to share that experience with you, either in person or through our network of the best stairlift dealers in North America. A stairlift is an important purchase, so it makes sense to choose Stannah – a name you can trust.

Better by design

A good product depends partly on using quality materials, but far more on the skill of designers and engineers. Stannah has a worldwide reputation for thoughtful design; our stairlifts are styled to fit into your home, are easy to use, reliable, and have appropriate safety features included as standard.

Examples of our thoughtful design include the way our stairlifts can be folded without bending down (especially important at the top of the stairs), the seat belt placement on the end of an armrest (much easier to reach than a seat belt by the hips) and the shape of the track which is narrow, and enclosed so that anything dropped on it falls harmlessly aside.

All of our stairlifts use a reliable battery system with a smart trickle-charger that plugs into a standard power outlet. Not only does this use very little electricity, it is also quiet and makes for a smooth ride that will allow you to use your stairlift in the event of a power outage.

Safety

We believe that safety is the most important factor when making a stairlift. That's why we include more standard safety features than any other stairlift manufacturer and insist on high standards of work when we are training installers. In addition, every stairlift we design is tested for the equivalent of ten years of use and the motor is tested for 100,000 journeys (which is about 20 years of normal residential use) to ensure that it is reliable enough to meet your needs.

However, engineering is only part of the story when it comes to safety. Just as important are the needs of the user and the staircase in question. That's why it is so important to have an expert come and review your situation before buying a stairlift.

Room to Maneuver

The 600 model will fit your straight stairs perfectly, leaving plenty of room when the lift isn't in use.

Enjoy the Great Outdoors!

The Stannah 320 outdoor model is designed to withstand harsh weather, salty spray and small animals.

Stairs That Turn?

At Stannah, we'll custom design our Model 260 to fit your stairs. The rail can also be set to finish in the most convenient position.
